

Beautiful Doesn't Have To Equal Expensive

At Kismet Jewelry, we strive to bring you the best in handcrafted hemp jewelry, drawing upon myriad sources of designs and knots, as well as coming up with our own exclusive pieces.

All of our jewelry is handmade, and built to last, with the highest quality hemp, beads, and findings available.

Hemp is not the sole domain of youth either. People of all ages buy and enjoy our products, desiring both beauty and durability. Hemp is perfect for accenting natural tone outfits, or offsetting a wild color combination with a hint of reserve.

What we offer

From the simple to the exquisite, we offer a variety of low price adornment options. Some services we offer include::

- Discounts on bulk orders
- Quick custom orders created specifically to your specifications, from hemp colors to beads.
- Handwoven jewelry guaranteed to last for years, getting stronger over time. Any needed repairs or adjustments are done free of charge.

What is Hemp?

From Websters Dictionary: "A tall Asiatic plant of the nettle family, having tough fiber." It is part of the cannabis species, but is grown specifically for industrial use.

Hemp, as used for our jewelry, has been dried, polished, spun, and checked over for quality control. One of the main reasons people shy away from hemp is the scratchy feel, which is caused by unpolished hemp.

Over time, hemp fibers wear down and interlock more tightly with each other, making your jewelry stronger over time.

What is hemp used for?

- Over 50,000 products use hemp
- Rope, fabrics, paper, paints, sealants
- Medicine, biodegradable plastics
- Nutritional oils, lubricants, source of protein
- And, of course, beautiful jewelry and other craft projects
